Grayling Fire Department News

The weekly meeting of Oct. 6th was called to order by Chief Middle LaMotte at 7:30 P. M.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

Following the reading of the minutes a short general discussion was held.

After our meeting we all went down and worked on the fire trucks. The pump and valves were all repacked on the Ford truck.

We completely reloaded the small truck with only 14 1/2 hose. This truck is our truck for out of town fires, and we are making some changes on it so we will be better prepared for out of town fires.

In the near future a small pump will be placed on this truck that can be carried to a river, lake or wherever we can get water. With this small pump and all 14 1/2 hose on the truck we will be able to pump water from a lake or river into the tank of the truck and that way never run out of water at an out of town fire.

We think loading the small truck this way will be a great help on fires out of town and the truck will still be just as useful for fires in town. Both trucks were fixed up for winter.

The meeting was adjourned at 9:45 P. M. Sixteen members were present.

In the very near future when everyone pays their telephone bill they will receive a card like the one below.

In case of Greas or Forest Fire Notify Conservation Department Phone: 4031 Day, 2511 - 4131 - 2241 Night, Building or Structure on Fire, Notify Grayling Fire Department, Phone 2000, Drowning, Shock, Asphyxiation, Notify Fire Chief 4011 or Mercy Hospital 2221.

Paste this notice in your Phone Book.

These cards have been donated by Grayling Township. If these cards are placed near or on your phone, some day they may save you some very valuable time in turning in an alarm for a fire. So please save these cards.

Library Needs Discussed

Needs of the Crawford County Library were discussed at a meeting of the Library Board along with people representing nine organizations in the county at a meeting held at the Library last Wednesday evening.

Besides the regular members of the Library Board, present at the meeting were Harold Long representing the American Legion, Mrs. T. P. Peterson, Martha Bauman Circle; Mary Perry, St. Mary's Altar Society; Mrs. Esberr Olson, Women's Club; Mrs. Dan Babbitt, R. L. D. S. Women's Dept.; Mrs. Robert Sorenson, Lutheran Junior Aid; Mrs. Melvin Nielsen, Mary Ruth Circle; Jerome Kesseler, Chamber of Commerce and Earl R. Burns, Grayling Masonic Lodge.

Matters concerning the public and the use of the County Library were freely discussed by the group. It was pointed out by the board that the present location of the Library was thought to be only usable for about two years. Some idea of this can be gained by the fact that in 1946 the public borrowed 6,500 books from the library whereas last year, 1951, 12,500 books were loaned.

A long discussion was held on the possibility of the different groups and organizations in the county giving to the library building fund which already has $1,500 in gifts in it. Also coming for a length discussion was the possibility of getting three tenths of a mill or its equal from taxation from the Board of Supervisors. The method of collection and distribution of the fund over the county needs further planning before such a plan could be presented the group felt.

The establishing of book stations in other parts of the county also came up for a discussion by the group and the plan was thought worthy of trying. The board will at its first opportunity attempt to set up such book stations in other parts of the county in order that people living away from Grayling may avail themselves of library books without driving into Grayling.

Taxes And Your Budget . . .

A western oil company recently ran an advertisement which had nothing to do with selling its products. It was called "Having Trouble With Your Family Budget?" and it dealt with the terrific tax bill families in all income brackets must carry.

The text took the form of a chart listing the taxes — Federal and state income, sales and excise, social insurance, property and so on — that the average family pays. And here, in part, are the findings:

If your family has a $3,500 income, you will pay $1,098 in taxes this year. If your income is $4,500, you will pay $1,494. If your income is $7,500, you will pay $2,801. And if it is $15,000, you will pay $6,618.

To look at the tax facts another way, more than three dollars in taxes of all kinds will be collected this year for every two dollars collected in 1949. And almost $10 in taxes of all kinds will be collected this year for every six dollars collected in 1945 — which was the peak spending year of World War II.

All in all, close to a third of the whole national income disappears down the insatiable maw of the tax-collecting agencies of one unit of government or another.

This is the answer to those who still are foolish enough to say that most of the cost of government can be raised by soaking the rich, and so it isn't particularly important to the rest of us. The rich have been soaked to the point of confiscation already, and if all the money they earn were seized by government it would only pay the bills for a few weeks. It's the people of small and moderate means who are taking the beating today — who have the most to gain from the elimination of governmental waste, extravagance and graft.

You'll discover this about a Buick:

The more you drive it, the more you like it; the longer your trip, the louder your praise.

That's what people tell us. And we'll tell you why.

You can drive a Buick three, four, five hundred miles in a single day, and feel fresh enough to keep right on going.

You can romp up high hills, cruise straightaways, ease through traffic-tangled towns, clock off hour after hour of relaxed and pleasurable driving — and be no more tired than a neighborhood jaunt would make you.

How come this comfort-rich ground-covering ability in a Buick?

There's the ease of deep, soft-seats for one thing — and plenty of move-about room for arms, legs, shoulders.

There's Dynaflo Drive* taking all the chore out of driving, and giving your whole ride a satiny smoothness without trace of jerkiness or driving tension.

There's a hoodful of thrilling, tireless power from a high-compression, valve-in-head Fireball 8 Engine that whips out miles like a tarpon reels off line.

There's the soft, steady, solid, swerve-free going of a coil-spring-cushioned ride that's well worth the million-plus dollars it cost to engineer.

There's all this and more — much more — that makes your heart grow fonder of this trim and thrifty traveler.

But words can't do justice to a Buick in motion. Only you can.

When will you come sample this experience yourself?

Letters To The Editor

One month from now, Americans once more have the great privilege and opportunity of helping to choose their leadership and indicating by the casting of their votes their stand on local, state and national issues. This procedure of registering our vote has never been a greater challenge—never have there been more momentous or far-reaching decisions ahead.

In the recent past too many Americans have been willing to let that exciting challenge slip by unheeded. Four years ago, only 51% of our eligible voters helped to choose national leadership—leadership whose action always affects those who do not vote equally as much as those who do. In local elections, in off-national years only ONE OUT OF FIVE American voters cared to exercise their gift of choice. Both European and Asiatic nations, who have suffered in the past a lack of chance to choose, out-distanced us by far in recent election percentages. Is it absolute necessary that we go on through the years until we, too, must learn the hard-way as they did? For surely history teaches us that, regardless of political creed or which of any number of parties is in power, continued low voting percentages over

A Home Fire Check List

WILL FIRE STAY INSIDE YOUR FURNACE?

ARE YOU CARELESS WITH HOT ASHES?

CAN YOU TRUST YOUR CHIMNEY?

DO YOU HAVE A SPARK-SAFE ROOF?

More than a thousand home fires a day—nearly 400,000 a year—are killing people and destroying property at an unprecedented rate, according to the National Fire Protection Association, sponsor of Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 5-11.

Deaths last year numbered 12,518. This was a record high as was the property loss of $92,500,000. NFPA records indicate that most fire deaths occur in homes. As a "minimum observance" of Fire Prevention Week, the NFPA asks every householder to go over this home fire check list and to correct the hazards he finds: Are there plenty of ash trays, and are there any matches except safety matches in the house?

the years lead to dictatorship.

Many voters close their eyes to life by convincing themselves that their individual vote doesn't count anyway. There are thousands of examples to disprove this thesis, but perhaps the classic concerns the admission of Texas to the Union. A farmer in Indiana almost missed going to the polls because he wanted to get his wheat to the mill by a certain hour. But either conscience or a neighbor prevailed and a man, for whom he voted, was sent to the state legislature from his district by only one vote. At that time the state legislature in Indiana elected national senators and a man named Hannegan was sent to Washington in that capacity. Mr. Hannegan was president pro tem of the Senate when the question arose of admitting Texas to the Union. The vote on the floor was tied and Mr. Hannegan broke the deadlock, admitting Texas.

No citizen who enjoys even ONE of the privileges of individual guaranteed rights or who undertakes even ONE obligation of citizenship such as paying taxes, can POSSIBLY AFFORD NOT TO VOTE. He is exercising the pressure of his stock in the greatest corporation in the world, our own United States.

Sincerely,
Patricia S. Bradley

MSC Opens New Veterinary Bldg.

East Lansing — A huge new building, designed to promote better living for both animals and humans, has been put into full use for the first time this fall at Michigan State College.

Giltner Hall, new $2,400,000 home of the M.S.C. School of Veterinary Medicine, serves a vital dual role for the people of Michigan. Here, extensive research in dozens of fields relating to human and animal health is combined with the important training of skilled veterinary doctors. Giltner Hall gives M.S.C. facilities second to none in the nation in the fields of veterinary medicine and bacteriology and public health, according to Dean C. F. Clark. The building contains 3,327,000 cubic feet of space, and includes 60 teaching and research laboratories; five operating rooms specially designed quarters for x-ray treatment and research; and the capacity of the large animal clinic has been increased from 32 to 80.

Dean Clark said that the college's extensive work in teaching research and extension will be improved tremendously due to the new facilities.

He added: "This investment by the Michigan people will be repaid a hundredfold in the years ahead, not only in the form of increased earnings from the animal industries, but also because of the relationship between much of this work and an even more important field — the health of humans."

Toys Needed For Kiwanis Project

It's getting that time of year again when the Grayling Kiwanis Club starts its project of giving Santa a lift by repairing toys turned in to them by kind hearted people.

So folks if your children have any toys they can't use will you deliver them to the Grayling High School shop room right away. If you are unable to deliver them please call Dr. J. F. Cook at 2231 and they will be called for.

The project of fixing these toys each year takes a good deal of time so get yours to the high school right away or call 2231 and have them picked up.

Discover New Colored Trout

Strange colored fish, occasionally being taken in a Thumb district stream since last May, have been identified as mutant brook trout.

Final identification of these fish with the white silver to dark blue coloration was made by the University of Michigan Museum, the conservation department's fisheries research institute discloses.

Dr. Reeve M. Bailey, curator of fishes at the museum and Dr. A. S. Hazzard, institute director, both say they have never encountered similar coloration before.

Of special interest to Michigan fishermen is Hazzard's report that the Wolf Lake state fish hatchery near Kalamazoo, with attempts to reproduce the trout. If they should turn out to be a hardier or better strain in some way than the regular hatchery product, the mutants conceivably could be used in the department's annual stream stocking program. They also might be used in experimental plantings to determine survival rate of regular hatchery releases.

Name of the Thumb district stream will continue to be withheld until the investigation is completed.

One of the most unusual fish stories of the year got started last May when Thumb district field men began getting persistent reports of albino trout in this small stream. One angler reported catching three adult trout, each about nine inches in length. In fact William Mason, district fisheries supervisors, relates that this same local angler believes that silver trout have been present for 15 years.

Recently, a state fishery crew moved an electric shocker through the stream to collect about 50 trout, three percent mutants, but all of which might carry the blood strain. The Wolf Lake hatchery will attempt to hatch eggs from these trout to see if the mutant strain can be continued.

REPORT ON OUR ELK

For the past 35 years Michigan has been striving to re-establish the elk or "wapiti" as it was known to the Indians in the early days—but to game biologists the job looks hopeless. Once upon a time elk were present in large numbers in our state, roaming in big herds throughout the area we now call the "thumb." Then, like the moose, elk retreated before the advance of civilization. Though far more adaptable to civilization than the wary moose, these majestic animals have not found our Michigan habitat too much to their liking—and continued signs of poor health are evident in our small herd.

Mystery Blindness Prevails

For many years during the summer months elk have been found wandering aimlessly in the range north and east of Vandenberg, apparently without fear of humans, thin and in poor health. Examination has shown the animals to be blind—the result of a malady which, so far, has baffled our biologists. Some animals, victims of the same illness, have been found dead in the area.

Food Deficiency Probable

It was natural to suspect that a food problem existed—that a certain mineral or vitamin was lacking. So a study of a normal elk diet in their habitat in Colorado and Wyoming was undertaken. As a result, about ten years ago, we began to place salt blocks fortified with cobalt out on our elk range. The results were spectacular in one sense. For the first time since their introduction back in 1918, Michigan elk began to "bugle" during the mating season in the fall. This reporter was fortunate enough to have made wilderness recordings of this strange, eerie sound at the time, and, in playing them back on the spot, to have "called" a bull elk to within 40 yards of our equipment.

Conservation men believe that the bugling was a sign of better health in the herd, resulting from the introduction of the mineral cobalt in their diet. As a matter of record Michigan elk were on the increase in numbers, and may have reached a population of 500 or more. Deer hunters frequently reported seeing 15 or 20 of the big animals in a single herd. Too many quick-triggered hunters, apparently with defective vision, mistook the 700-pound bull elk with 4 foot antlers, for a deer. Five or six elk are killed and left in the woods each fall—a wanton waste that makes a serious inroad on survival considering the small total population.

Answer-In-Future

Some day we may hit upon the answer—the scientific truth that will tell us why our small elk herd does not multiply normally. The climate is certainly not too rugged. The range seems satisfactory. The answer still seems to lie in the type of food available—and man may be able to supply that thru proper plantings to re-establish this highly desirable mammal in Michigan Outdoors.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Our Town Wouldn't Take a "Back Seat"

Well, the "battle of the buses" has been settled! Our town is again friendly with Balesville. Everything started when buses began going through our town with a big sign on them saying SHOP IN BALESVILLE. The bus line is owned in Balesville and operates over here on a franchise. Windy Taylor was all for putting up barricades—he kept calling up the police and the bus company. Finally Judge Cunningham invited the Balesville Chamber of Commerce to meet with ours at Andy's Garden Tavern.

Over a good meal and glass of beer we all reached a compromise without any trouble. Those signs now read SHOP HERE IN TOWN. Everyone's happy.

From where I sit, it shows how problems disappear once both sides get together and try to work things out. Naturally we're all a little different. Some like soda pop, for instance, and some like beer. So what? We all have to ride along through life together. Why not make it a pleasant trip?
